

A Few of the Many Positive Comments Received in Response to James Lloyd's Presentation, How Full Is Your Bucket?

Denver, CO 11/9/2006

Explain how you will apply what you have learned in this session to your current job responsibilities:

- I'm a new employee, so this will provide an excellent foundation for entering a new company with different values and work processes. I'll post mementos of Mr. Lloyd's examples in my cubicle to remind me to keep this positive attitude even when my day becomes demanding.
- As a manager I view my most important job as motivating employees. Maintaining morale is a key component of motivation and James' message went directly toward maintaining and improving employee morale.
- I think the analogy of drops in or drops out of a bucket is easy to remember. I think it will help me think about what I say before I say it so that I'm being as positive as I can.
- This was an excellent presentation with application for interpersonal and professional relations.
- The session helped me become more aware of how my attitude and actions affect me team and my co-workers.

Additional Comments

- This was the best seminar I have ever been to! I left feeling awesome about myself and about life in general. Very motivating. I could listen to James all day!
- This is wonderful. I shared the information with my family at a family dinner last night. I have already found ways to keep my bucket full. Very timely course. I think this will also help negative people see the impact that they have on others and make them take responsibility for their actions.
- This was the best employee training I have attended. Please have more Thank you very much for this!
- This presentation was awesome. The speaker was great! Turned out to be time well spent.
- Excellent! Thank you, thank you, thank you! I've already recommended Mr. Lloyd to two friends in other industries!
- Great to see a presentation that encompassed ways to improve both work and home life for employees. Thanks for investing in us.
- Just an excellent presentation. One of the best, if not the best, that I have attended.